AT THE THEATER

"The Ringmaster" Pleases.

To those who liked "The Lion and the Mouse," "The Ringmaster," which was seen at the Duncan opera house last night, doubtless appealed, though the only real note of similarity between the two is the uprightness of youth and the greed the kings of finance have for unlimited control. "The Ringmaster" is a better show than "The Lion and the Mouse." It deserved a packed house, but as it was, and as is usually the case with Las Vegas theater-goers, the audience was small, and those who were not there were today lamenting the fact. Splendid acting and beautiful stage settings were features of the show. The plot of the play stood out boldly and the audience never for a moment lost interest in it.

John LeBaron, Jr., living a contented life of idleness, finds that he is in love with Eleanor Hillary, daughter of the much feared Ringmaster. She returns his affection, promising to marry him on condition that he will go out into the financial world and carve a niche in the wall of workers for himself, as her father and his father have done. Upon this he agrees, and opens an office near the Stock Exchange. His policy, as he has adopted it, makes it necessary for him to become the chief financial enemy of Hillary. In the war for control which follows, Eleanor's father is exhibited as a rather unscrupulous financier, but Eleanor mistakes these questionable business traits as belonging to LeBaron until Hillary confesses that it is he who is guilty and not LeBaron. Naturally she reproaches her lover for being in direct opposition to her father, though she forgives him in the end, not so readily however, as she did her father. This is the main theme of human interest derived from a financial battle to gain control of certain smelting interests, in which the Ringmaster tries to buy a railroad of which the greater part is owned by LeBaron. In gaining this, he expects to raise rates in shipping supplies to a certain plant, thereby forcing it in order to meet competition to come into the combination. Here is where LeBaron displays his exquisite honesty and refuses to become a party to a scheme so unpatriotic and inhuman. Supplementary to this main plot, are several minor plots, one being the love affair between Peter Stuyvesant Cobb, a young reporter, and Rebecca Love, a very frivolous and effervescent young woman. These young people, unknown to themselves discover certain facts by intercepting a wireless message and ciphering it out, which starts LeBaron in his turbulent career as a power in the Exchange. This play of high finance which deals more with the technique of buying and selling stocks than the real things of general interest to humanity was written by Oliver Porter. Miss Porter, it is said, spent considerable time in the office of a Wall Street financier in the capacity of stenographer, her story is written with the knowledge of a subject only gained by close association, which evidently was spent in careful observation. Miss Porter having made the dialogue between the male characters, exceedingly strong. A small piece of characterization, which is so artistically and carefully done, that it stands out more conspicuously than any other in the caste, is that of Harvey D. Crosby, an ex-Senator Paul Craven, for perfectness of the smallest detail. Mr. Crosby has been most studious, and he is especially deserving of praise in making a minor part so life-like. The Ringmaster, as played by Frederic Montague is forceful and strong. He rises to the situation with apparent ease and power. As the young financier, John LeBaron, Jr., H. S. Northrup, is at his best. The character gives him an opportunity to give way to the full power of expression and voice. Another praiseworthy piece of acting is done by F. A. Yalvington, as an old railroad president. The other members of the caste, serve to balance the whole quite well. Alice Weeks, as Eleanor Hillary is thoroughly capable and handles the role very well indeed. Miss Anna Lee, a young woman, played the part of Rebecca Love in a spirited manner. Clara Collman created many laughs in the role she impersonated. The Ringmaster, when first produced was called the "Son of His Father," and was as popular then as now.

"Texas," a Western Play.

The patrons of the Duncan opera house are promised a real treat on tomorrow night in the presentation of "Texas," a popular drama in four acts portraying life in the great Southwest.

"Texas," is a play which will live for many years, one can see it many times before one tires of the jolly cowboys, the "Bold Bad Man" song and the other incidents that make life worth living in the Lone Star state. "Texas" is a natural play of ends and from lands claimed by Mrs. Anna Ward to the southeast corner of lands claimed by Mrs. Anna Ward, which is a point about 5 1-2 chains east of Mora road, and on a line bearing N. 65 degrees E. and crossing the Hot Springs branch of the A. T. & S. F. Ry., at station 83 plus 57.8 ft.; thence south 65 degrees W. along said last described line to a point on the east side of Mora road; thence on a course about S. 9 degrees and 30 minutes E. along the east line of Mora road, to the point of beginning.

Also that certain tract of land and real estate claimed by Alfred G. Green, one of said defendants, to-wit—

Adjoining above described tract on the east, and bounded, as follows: Commencing at a point the northwest corner of this tract of land, which point is the northeast corner of lands claimed by Martha Green and is on the south line of lands claimed by the widow of William Green, deceased, and which point is about three-eighths of a mile, more or less to the north of what is known as Green's Lake; thence east following the line of fence dividing this tract of land from the land of Mrs. William Green aforesaid, and the projection of said line of fence east, about one-half mile to the Arroyo Pecos, the northeast corner of this tract; thence southerly along said arroyo Pecos, following its meanders to a point where a line one-half mile south measured at right angles from above described north boundary and parallel thereto, crosses said arroyo Pecos; S. E. Cor. Thence west along said last described line, which is marked on the east side of the road from Las Vegas to Watrous by an old row of posts and on the west side of said road by a wire fence and which line is parallel to and about 100 yards north of the north limits of the City of Las Vegas, one-half mile, more or less, to the southwest corner of this tract; thence north along the line and fence dividing this tract from land claimed by Martha Green, one-half mile, more or less, to the point of beginning.

Excepting from said described two tracts of land, a strip of land belonging to said Browne & Manzanares Company about 200 varas wide, traversing this tract and bounded, north by a line running N. 65 degrees E. and crossing the Hot Springs branch of the A. T. & S. F. Railroad at station 83 plus 57.8 ft., and bounded on the south by a line bearing N. 65 degrees E. and crossing said railroad at station 77 plus 92 ft.

Avoid Danger

When you are sick, or suffering from any of the troubles peculiar to women, don't delay—take Cardui, that well-known and successful remedy for women. Thousands of women have used Cardui and been benefited. Why not you? Don't take any chances. Get Cardui, the old, reliable, oft-tried remedy, for women of all ages.

TAKE CARDUI

It Will Help You

Mrs. Lillian Morgan, Sneedville, Tenn., writes: "For ten years I suffered with the turn of life, and tried many remedies without relief. I had pains all over my body and at times I could not sit up. At last I took Cardui and now I can do my housework. I have told many ladies about Cardui and recommend it to all sick women." Try it.

AT ALL DRUG STORES

a life made famous by that great American artist Frederick Remington. It is a picturesque life that is fast giving way to modern civilization. With the building up of large cities, and the arrival of the automobile, the cowboy and the bronco will be a thing of the past. "Texas" is a true picture of the cattle country and life on a cattle ranch. It is an instructive as well as highly entertaining play, and one that should be seen by every man, woman and child who has a drop of American blood tingling in their veins.

"Texas" will be the attraction at the Duncan opera house tomorrow night.

Good Cough Medicine for Children and Grown Folks, Too.

"We could hardly do without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Mrs. Flora Deepain of Blydy, Ky. "I found it to be so good for the croup and have used it for years. I can heartily recommend it for coughs, colds and croup in children and grown folks, too." The above shows the implicit confidence that many mothers place in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, a confidence based on many years' experience in the use of it. No one need hesitate to use this remedy for it contains no chloroform, opium or other narcotics and may be given to a child as confidently as to an adult. For sale by all dealers.

"But," said the merchant to the applicant, "you don't furnish any reference from your last place."

"You needn't worry about that," replied the man with the close-cropped head and strange pallor; "I wouldn't be here now if it hadn't been for my good behavior in my last place."

Catholic Standard and Times.

Forced Into Exile

Wm. Upchurch of Glenn Oak, Okla., was an exile from home. Mountain air, he thought, would cure a frightful lung-racking cough that had defied all remedies for two years. After six months he returned, death dogging his steps. "Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery," he writes, "and after taking six bottles I am as well as ever." It saves thousands yearly from desperate lung diseases. Infalible for coughs and colds, it dispels hoarseness and sore throat. Cures grip, bronchitis, hemorrhages, asthma, croup, whooping cough. 50c and $1.00, trial bottle free, guaranteed by all druggists.

When a girl is afraid a young man will flirt with her she wishes he would.

Kills her Foe of 20 Years

"The most merciless enemy I had for 20 years," declares Mrs. James Duncan, of Haynesville, Mo., "was dyspepsia. I suffered intensely after eating or drinking and could scarcely sleep. After many remedies had failed and several doctors gave me up, I tried Electric Bitters, which cured me completely. Now I can eat anything. I am 70 years old and am overjoyed to get my health and strength back again." For indigestion, loss of appetite, kidney trouble, lame back, female complaints, it is unequalled. Only 50c at all druggists.
